 - To verify any reference and background provided by any employee of the Company, or a third party, in order to avoid a conflict of interest, or a potential conflict of interest thereof, and to comply with the applicable rules and regulations, and to verify the terms of employment of the Company;
 - To comply with the applicable procedures, laws, rules, and regulations, in order to comply with the provisions of the law, court order, or order of the relevant government agency for the benefit of an investigation which is carried out by law enforcement officers, and to provide assistance for the purposes of law enforcement, perform an investigation by or on behalf of the Company, or by police officers, government agencies, or other regulatory authorities in any countries or jurisdictions, and to perform an obligation to report and to comply with various requirements provided by law, or as agreed with government agencies or other regulatory authorities in any countries or jurisdictions, as well as to investigate, prevent, or take any action in connection with a violation of the law, to prevent risks in the event that there is a reason to suspect that there could be fraud, money laundering, national security issue, or an unlawful matter, or there is a reason to believe that there is unlawful conduct, or an event that may affect the life, health, or body of another person;
 - To process payment information, to demand or make a payment, and for the purposes of accounting, account management, and auditing of the Company's accounts, or for the purposes of debt collection in the event that the employee owes money to the Company;
 - To ensure the Company's security;
 - For the purposes of the Company's restructuring and transactions, which may cause your personal data to be transferred or disclosed as part of a business sale or purchase, or an offer to sell or purchase the business;
 - To carry out other necessary actions, which are directly related to any of the aforementioned purposes.
- (4) The Company collects, uses, and discloses personal data about Third-Party Service Providers for the following purposes:
- To enter into an agreement with you, and to evaluate your qualification and carry out any relevant acts, before the execution of such agreement;
 - To perform and comply with contractual obligations;
 - To pay for services, products, or any other expenses that are related to the agreement or contract;
 - To collect and record your information in the Company's database;
 - To communicate with you in regard to the purposes provided herein;
 - To monitor, prevent, and investigate a fraud and/or criminal offence;
 - To establish, comply with, exercise, or defend the right of claims available to the Company at law;
 - To comply with obligations under the law and regulations in connection with tax including, but not limited to, disclosing information to government organizations or agencies, i.e. the Revenue Department, in the event that such disclosure is required by the applicable law or regulation;
 - In the event that you visit the Company's place of business, the Company will collect your photographs or videos taken by surveillance cameras installed in the Company's premises, in order to prevent and suppress damage that may occur to the Company's properties, assets, and personnel, as well as any other relevant persons. In addition, the Company may also use such personal data about you to prevent and perform an inspection on a misconduct or crime.

In the event that your personal data is required in order to process your request to enter into an agreement with the Company, or for the performance of an obligation under an agreement, and you do not provide your personal data as requested, the Company may not be able to process your request or perform the obligation under the agreement, whether in whole or in part. Moreover, in the event that such personal data is required for the compliance with the law, and you do not provide your personal data as requested, it may be deemed that the Company and/or you violate the law.

To whom will the Company disclose your personal data

The Company may disclose your personal data to the following persons, either in or outside Thailand:
